New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100– $500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100– $500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100– $500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100– $500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100– $500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100– $500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100– $500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100– $500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100– $500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New Jersey's NJSA 10:5-29 defines a service dog as trained to the requirements of a disabled person. Persons with service dogs, or organization trainers training them, are granted full public access. Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal can result in a $100–$500 fine or a crime of the fourth degree.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info