New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

New York's § 108(22) defines a service dog as trained to do work or tasks to assist a disabled person. Persons with service animals, or those training them, are granted full public access (§ 47). Certification, equipment, or ID are not required. Punishment for interfering with, harassing, or injuring a service animal ranges from a fine of up to $1,000 to 15 days in prison.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info

Per U.S. federal law, a dog trained to assist with a person's disability can join them without a fee in public places like taxis, stores, hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and schools. No ID, equipment, or 'certification' is required. Only two questions are allowed: Is the dog a service animal required because of a disability? What work or task has it been trained to perform? It may only be denied if the animal is out of control or not housebroken.

Advocates for Service Animal Partners 855-272-7211 www.serviceanimals.info